A Tribute to Genius

THE world has been robbed of a great personage in the passing of Henry Irving. The dramatic art has been enriched by him; its scope widened, its tone enriched, and although he has now forever ceased his career, the drama has reached a standard through him that cannot fall. Henry Irving and men of his type do not win temporary laurels or exist a passing influence. Irving has made wonderful impressions in his life time and it is these impressions that persist after death. He played from one continent to another, and the spark of his genius burned steady and bright while he fired the hearts of different countrymen. When he played in America he was by no means forgotten abroad, and when abroad he was never forgotten here. So soul absorbing was his influence, and so impressive was his genius that he did not need to be near by to remind his fellows of his presence. He was ever present and so he shall be. Though this will no longer be his sphere, we will still continue to feel his influence and to the ambitious player Henry Irving will seem to stand at the goal beckoning to him, prompting him, and urging him ever onward toward art's perfection. So shall we still have high-class drama, for who follows in the footsteps of Henry Irving, and strives to be as he, cannot but keep up the great standard he has created. Henry Irving gratified many a master playwright, and Shakespeare, himself, will surely make known to him in some way in that great beyond, how appreciative he has been of his work. Many other players have distorted Shakespeare's characters, but in Irving's hand every creation was brought out in the most delicate detail, and every character portrayed as was intended. Irving produced the plays of great men of this age, but it would have seemed a more fitting order of events had Shakespeare and Irving been living contemporaries. Shakespeare had said in a passage of Hamlet, "Speak the speech, I pray you as I pronounced it to you, trippingly on the tongue; but if you mouth it, as many of your players do, I had as lief the town-crier spoke my lines."

Had Irving lived then, or Shakespeare in Irving's age, the dramatist would have realized his hopes to the fullest extent in the blending of his creations and Irving's faultless interpretations.

Heard on the Marsh

Oh! sorry fate, it is my luck
To be a bird, and that a duck,
And I am doomed to dodge the shot,
Or find my way into the pot.
No more I'll circle in the pond,
Nor waddle o'er the marshy ground;
I must be fly and keep away
From all the snares that men will lay;
For every hedge of shrub and tree,
May be a blind awaiting me,
And every friendly looking bird
May be a decoy most absurd.
But hark! the Sunday hunters come,
I hear the train,
I've got to go now,
Cause I think its going to rain.

THE spirit which prompted the founding of the free public library here is the kind of spirit we need more of. The library has been very much of a success and it should be encouraged and helped along by every one in the valley.

FINE opportunity to get in touch with the problems in the far East will be given the audiences throughout the Second District, before whom Congressman McKinlay will shortly lecture.

SONOMA's claim to superior and choice vintage has once again attracted attention through the gold medal award to Dresel & Co. at the Portland Fair.

BERKELEY is getting a sensational reputation as a rendezvous for cut-throats. The seat of learning seems to be a hard one.

HAIR has begun to grow on a Maine man's tongue. Too bad, when so many heads need it.

Senator Elkin's Views on Rates

Senator Stephen B. Elkins of West Virginia says of the probable attitude of Congress toward railroad legislation:

"I think there is no doubt that some sort of bill will be passed. Just what its provisions will be is, of course, a matter of conjecture. The committee will not be long in framing a bill, as I believe the individual members have formed definite opinions on what they desire, and all that will remain to be done is to agree on some one plan. This, I think, will not require more than two weeks, so that when the Senate convenes in December a bill will have been framed for presentation to the Senate."

"My idea is a measure for the reference of all rate disputes, passenger and freight, to a court of Interstate Commerce, to be composed of nine judges—one for each judicial circuit of the United States—or for such disputes to be

Sonoma Must Improve Sanitary Conditions

WHEN we begin to think of how to make our city beautiful, attractive and habitable, we cannot but realize that we must improve our system of drainage. Only for the fact that Nature comes to the rescue every rainy season and flushes out the ditches, Sonoma would be in a sorry plight. This, however, does not correct the evil of open ditches in the summer time, when as a result of the increase of the number of people here, conditions become more foul. Just at the time when Sonoma should appear at her best to the health and home seeker she makes a bad impression owing to the stench from the dirty ditches which run along our main thoroughfares.

The ditches were, of course, originally intended to carry off the pure spring water from the hills above, and serve as proper drainage. The pure water, however, has been polluted, and the ditches regarded as convenient for sewerage. Because they have been countenanced so long is no reason why they should continue to be tolerated. Because efforts have been made to correct the evil in the past is no reason in the world why more persistent and effective efforts should not be made in the future. The ditches are not only unsightly, unwholesome and unclean, but they have always been a source of expense to the city. They have to be cleaned, (or an effort made to clean them, which at the best is only temporary,) and many bridges have to be kept in repair that we may have the pleasure of crossing the beautiful winding streams, while filthy fumes assail our nostrils. There must be something done to better this state of affairs, and the present Board of Trustees can in no better way make a record for themselves than to solve this problem. A Board of Health working in conjunction and in unison with the trustees might find some ways and means to get at the matter. We welcome the coming of the new city hall, but we all want to live to enjoy and admire it. With menacing sanitary conditions, who knows what epidemic may come?

referred to the judges without the creation of a new court.

"I do not believe that the Interstate Commerce Commission should be allowed to deal with the question. I would keep that body intact to discharge its duties as at present. My idea for the reference of disputed rate matters to the circuit judges meets with general approval in Washington, and I hope to convert the President to my view."

CONSTRUED WILL OF DR. DAVIS

Judge Concludes that Widow Has "Absolute Estate," and Orders Distribution

Judge Seawell has rendered an opinion construing the will of the late Dr. H. H. Davis, which called for legal interpretation owing to some uncertain terms and clauses found therein.

After making a small bequest to his brother in Tulare, Dr. Davis left all the rest of the property to his wife, Mrs. Natalie Davis, for her use and disposal absolutely. In another clause he provided that in the event of his wife's death or re-marriage, the property, if any remained, should go to her child or children, if there were any, and if not, then it should be divided among his own and his wife's relatives. In the same clause he gave his wife authority to sell or dispose of any portion of the property she desired.

Judge Seawell decided that the child referred to was Elizabeth Adelaide Davis, and said that the doctor's confidence in his wife was strikingly set out in the will. The distribution of the property was then made as follows:

To the brother of the decedent, J. W. Davis, testator's gold watch, gold watchchain, and locket; and the residue of said estate to the widow, Natalie H. Davis.

Mrs. Davis will get about $13,000 worth of real and personal property.

Lawlor's Horse Hurt

John Lawlor's mare, Grace McKinney was the best actor on the track Sunday at the Santa Rosa race meet. She won second in the first heat and first in the second heat in 2:13. The paper started out to win the third heat, but was packed for the first three quarters. Coming in on the home stretch the mare broke away from the packet, in which the jealous San Francisco drivers were trying to keep her, and forged ahead. Before she came under the wire, however, she was run into and young Lawlor was thrown violently from the sulky. The mare has a badly bruised shoulder and her jaw is sore as a result of the contact.

People who saw the driving denounced the methods used to pull the race for horses coming from around the bay.

Grace McKinney is five years old and can earn good money if given a fair deal. The race was for the best three out of five.—Petaluma Courier.

Granted Divorce Because of Cruelty

Judge Burnett has granted Louisa Van de Water a divorce from her husband, William Van de Water, because of cruelty. The community property was also given to the wife. The plaintiff's story of the cruelties to which she had been subjected for six years were corroborated by other witnesses, who told of Van de Water's treatment and abuse of his wife. On June 11th, of this year, while intoxicated, he called her many vile names and choked her, and this was the climax that ended in the divorce proceedings.

EL VERANO.

By Happy Hooligan.

Ralph Ent visited San Francisco the fore part of the week.

Frank Price of Santa Rosa spent the fore part of the week in this place.

Robert Poppe of Sonoma was a passenger to Santa Rosa Wednesday morning.

W. M. Mullen, of the Union Iron Works, San Francisco, visited his folks here Sunday.

John Larsen, a well-known liquor dealer of San Francisco, was in town Sunday.

Jimmie Sterling, the well-known Sonoma sport, passed through here Monday enroute to Petaluma.

Thos. Baines, of the real estate firm of Peters & Baines, transacted business in San Francisco the fore part of the week.

Amele Pilastre of this place purchased a thoroughbred race horse last Sunday. The animal will be entered in the next race meet at Sonoma.

J. C. Sims, formerly State Senator from this county, but now of a San Francisco law firm, was a guest at the Bellevue Hotel on Sunday.

The many friends of Harry Baines, who has been laid up with rheumatism for the past few months, are glad to see him up and around again.

Louis Chance of San Francisco was in town Sunday. Mr. Chance came here to figure on a large painting contract which is about to be let in this place.

A large number of our young sports spent Sunday quail shooting. Very poor luck was had and the biggest shoot was made by Louis Odono, who got the limit.

The great and only Jas. McIsaac, superintendent of the upper floor of the Bellevue Hotel, distinguished bed-maker, has left El Verano with the tips of the season.

Jimmie Farsvard, the El Verano Villa bus driver, has left us. Colonel McGarrity has succeeded him, and is making an awful hit with his new kid gloves and stove-pipe hat.

A large number of hobos have been hanging around our town this week. These hobos are selling and pawning rings and the people should look out for them. Some move should be made to stop these law-breakers from selling these valueless rings.

Rumor has it that Colonel McGarrity, the new bus driver at El Verano Villa, will have his famous donkey, Jerusalem Coo Coo, sent to this place. The Colonel will drive the coo coo donkey in the bus, and will, no doubt, make a hit on the driveways in this place.

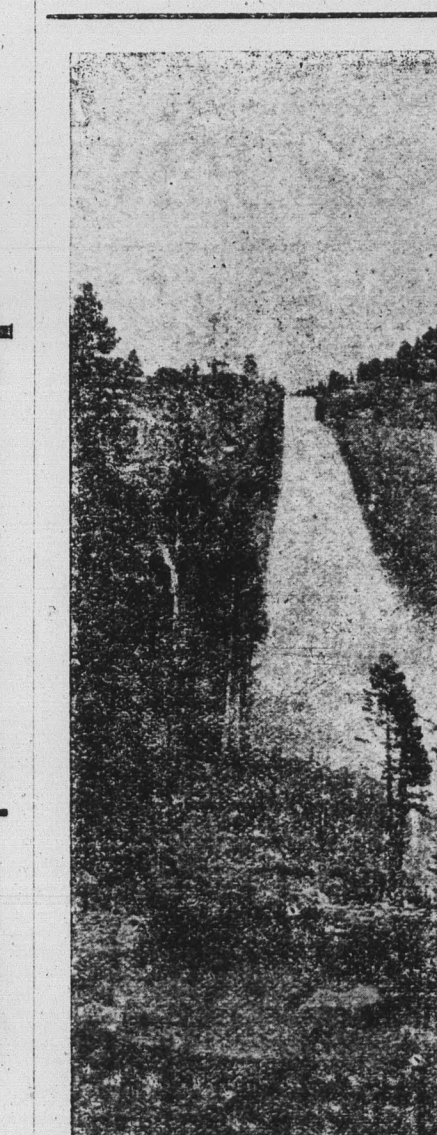

Mr. Ignacio Coronel, who has been a guest at the Bellevue Hotel since the beginning of summer, and who showed his strong arm in the benefit for the Forni family, as the wild man from Borneo, is now the manager of the cafe. To see him you must step on your head, with your pockets open, and everybody is welcome.

Spreckels Interested in an Electric Railway.

Rudolph Spreckels has decided to cooperate with John McNear in the electric railway the terminus of which will be at McNear's Point, Marin county. This is an important announcement as Mr. Spreckels' big interests here are likely to lead to the connection of Sonoma Valley with this projected new road. The road will be built exactly on the style of the Key route between Oakland and San Francisco. The road bed will be built as straight as possible that a high rate of speed may be attained. Two steamers like the Key route boats will be built so that the run from McNear's to San Francisco will take but forty minutes. The entire trip from Petaluma to San Francisco will consume but one hour and twenty minutes.

With a fine ferry service like the one intended it is no idle supposition to predict that all this country, particularly this valley, will be tapped by a connecting electric road.

Capt. Boyes Thrown From Automobile

Capt. H. E. Boyes of "El Mirador" had a fortunate escape from injury on Sunday last, when he was thrown out of an automobile driven by a careless chauffeur.

A number of society folks from San Rafael including the De Youngs, Frank Johnsons and Beards came up in their automobiles to Boyes' Hot Springs on Saturday evening, and while Capt. Boyes was going from the Springs to his house in one of the machines, it suddenly lurched, throwing him to the ground. He was badly shaken up and his escape from serious injury seems remarkable.

Met With Automobile Accident

William H. Lumsden, who is interested in the Madrone vineyards, and often visits in this valley, met with a rather serious automobile accident in Napa county Sunday.

The steering gear of the machine worked loose and just as Lumsden and his chauffeur were pulling into Yountville the auto turned a complete somersault and landed in a ditch. Lumsden was thrown out and rendered unconscious. He was badly bruised up and one thumb was broken. The machine was a complete wreck.

Breach of Promise Suit

In the breach of promise suit brought by Miss Angelina Morosoli against L. Massucci for alleged seduction under promise of marriage, Judge Burnett overruled the demurrer Tuesday. The court says that each count of the amended complaint meets the requirement of good pleading and holds that there is no uncertainty in the allegations of the acts of the defendant, which are the basis of the action. The plaintiff is suing for $5,000 damages.

Mr. F. Lemoine and family intended going to San Francisco today to be absent one week.

The old Bell place has been leased to parties, who will convert it into a chicken ranch.

Mr. Ed Steiger, who has been confined to his home with rheumatism, is able to be about again.

Ed Thierkoff has placed an acetylene gas plant in his saloon, which is quite an improvement to this place of business.

The Misses Crepin and Miss Emma Woods visited Mrs. Rankin and Mrs. Wallace at their cozy mountain home last Tuesday.

Miss Georgie Merlinojones came up from Oakland on Friday evening of last week and remained over Sunday with home folks.

Mr. A. Froment and family went to San Francisco Thursday afternoon to meet Mrs. Froment's sister, who is expected to return from Paris today.

Mr. Edward Payne came up to Glen Ellen last Thursday and went to his mountain home, where he each week prepares his editorial matter for "Gleason's."

The Glen Ellen Grange is going to have a big time all day Saturday. Several new members will be received into the lodge. One of the features of the day will be a big "cat."

Mrs. Rieger with her little grand daughter, Marion Perry, who formerly lived on the old Wright place, called on friends here last week. Mrs. Rieger has recently bought a home in Santa Rosa.

The Ladies' Aid Society of this place held a special meeting Tuesday at the residence of Mrs. A. E. Gaige. The ladies decided to have the Church Bazaar on the 16th and 17th of November.

Jack London left San Francisco for the East Thursday. While on his trip he will be married in Iowa to Miss Charmion Kittredge, returning here the first of the year to build a fine home on his ranch.

Judge Gibson and Jerry Allen had their day "at home" last Wednesday, in which J. McAndrew, Ed Thierkoff, Mr. Woodworth and Mr. Houser, assisted by Swain, carried off all the honors, while Pucci and Assistant District Attorney Thompson took the booby prize.

Little Eugenia Froment entertained a number of her little friends last Sunday in honor of her birthday anniversary. The pretty home was artistically decorated for the occasion. The table was laden with goodie goodies and the little ones enjoyed the "bestest" time they ever had.

Will Wed for Fourth Time

Mr. Russell, formerly of this place, but now of San Francisco, where for many years he has held an important position in the London, Paris and American Bank, will be married on Sunday to Miss Mary Melville. Russell was formerly married to Mrs. Amy Pauli of this place, but was unfortunate in having lost his wife, who died shortly after their marriage.

Altogether Mr. Russell has been three times a widower. His marriage to Miss Melville tomorrow will make his fourth venture.

Forestry Section Day at Woman's Club

Yesterday was Forestry Section Day at the Sonoma Valley Woman's Club, which had for its guest the Glen Ellen Ladies' Improvement Club. A very enjoyable time was spent in the discussion of forestry topics, and several good papers were read. Refreshments were served and a social time later concluded the meeting.

MUSICAL TREAT AT LIBRARY BENEFIT

Womans' Club Concert on Tuesday Night a Grand Success

The concert given Tuesday night for the benefit of the library by the Sonoma Valley Womans' Club was a rare musical treat. An appreciative audience was present and C. Mortimer Chapin, the violinist, and Frank Carroll Giffen, the tenor, were enthusiastically received. The program was as follows:

1. Vocal—Sunset.....Dudley Buck
2. Violin—Hungarian Airs.....Kata Bela (Ich grolle nicht.....Schumann)
3. Vocal—Sonnenschein.....Wienlawski
4. Violin—Legende.....Schubert
5. Vocal—In the Woods.....Franz
6. Violin—Serenade.....Schubert
7. Vocal—Aus meinen grossen Schmerzen (Sleep Time, My Honey.....Franz
8. Violin—Caprice De Concert.....Huslin

A social hop followed the concert and refreshments were sold, all of which helped to swell the library fund.

Another Season of Ben Hur for San Francisco

Klaw & Erlanger's bewildering spectacular production of General Lew Wallace's mighty play, Ben Hur, is scheduled for a four-night engagement at the Grand Opera House, San Francisco, starting on Monday evening, October 30th. When this drama was originally staged in the California Metropolis two years ago, it attracted the attention and aroused the interest of the intelligent portion of the public of the entire Pacific Slope who witnessed it, and was voted by able critics to be the most gigantic, impressive, instructive and picturesque spectacle ever produced within the four walls of a playhouse.

All railroad lines entering San Francisco are to make special excursion rates for parties desiring to attend this entertainment. By inquiring of the local railroad representative full particulars can be ascertained. Mr. H. H. Campbell, Business Manager of the Grand Opera House, San Francisco, will give special attention to all orders for seats through the mail, providing they are accompanied by a remittance and a self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply, in order to avoid all mistakes.

Masons Hold Banquet

The local Masonic Lodge held an initiation and banquet on Tuesday evening, which was attended by the lodge members and a large number of invited guests. The Petaluma visitors were unable to be present, but a fine time was had by all who attended. Dr. Dawson and several others from the "Home" were present. At the banquet there was some fine speech-making, toasting and general repartee.

A Fire Scare

A fire on Capt. Johnson's fine farm east of town threatened to destroy the barn and fencing on the place last Sunday afternoon. A telephone message was sent into town and a bus load of volunteer fire-fighters went out to give assistance. By the time they arrived, however, the flames had been subdued.

Mrs. L. Brown and young son went to San Francisco Thursday, where the latter is being treated for his eyes.

Mr. Cunningham, who was taken to San Francisco on account of illness, has returned and is convalescent.

Miss Maude Fraser will spend today and tomorrow at Petaluma, where she will be the guest of Miss Phoebe Denny.

Station Agent Reed and wife have returned from their vacation. Mr. Reed resumed work in the office of the California Northwestern Wednesday.

Miss Mary Biggins, formerly of this place but now of San Francisco, has been looking over her property interests on Sonoma Mountain the past week.

Mrs. O. Gordenker was down from Glen Ellen on Sunday last. This week she left for Berkeley, where she will take a course of lectures at the University.

Tomorrow morning at the Congregational Church the topic will be, "Confessing Christ." In the evening at 7:30 there will be union services at the Congregational Church. Rev Mr. Rowe will deliver the sermon. At 6:30 p. m. there will be a Young People's meeting at the Congregational Church led by Mr. Waters of Santa Rosa. The topic to be, "Character Building." Hereafter the Union Young People's Society of the Christian Endeavor will alternate between the churches at 6:30 p. m.

HOW THE PROPERTY WAS SAVED

(Original.)

When the Yankees took the forts that lined Port Royal harbor we on our plantation, ten miles from Beaufort, did not know that they had steamed up to the town and the inhabitants had fled. Our mother, looking out of the window of an upper story, saw them coming, and, running down stairs shouting "The Yankees!" we all rushed pell-mell from the house. No one stopped to take up a single piece of jewelry or silverware.

At nightfall we reached Colonel Wiggins' plantation and were so tired that we could go no farther. The colonel kindly took us in and sent several of his colored men, on whom he could depend, back to watch the roads and give us warning if the Yankees were coming. As soon as we got settled we called the roll and found all were present except Kathleen O'Rourke. Kathleen was mother's maid. How she had drifted from Ireland to South Carolina no one knew. Mother picked her up in Charleston and, taking a fancy to her, put her in the kitchen and the kitchen and installed Kathleen in her place.

We stayed at Colonel Wiggins' a week, and since the Yankees did not follow us our fright gradually left us and we began to think that we had acted unwisely in not staying on the plantation and trying to protect our property. I proposed to return and see how things were going, but mother would not hear of it. She said that no daughter of hers should place herself in a position to be insulted by northern vandals. However, I determined to go and one morning stole away on my little mare.

When I reached the house I saw officers coming and going, while a sentinel paced before the front door. In the cotton field across the road were hundreds of white tents. I was going in to our own home, mind you—when the detestable sentinel blocked the way. I asked to see the officer in command, and he called, "Orderly!" A soldier appeared and said the staff were at dinner. Walking into the hall through an open door, I saw half a dozen officers seated around a table, and to my astonishment who should be at one end but Kathleen. She saw me and in another moment joined me.

"Oh, Miss Cathleen," she said, falling on my neck in order that she might whisper in my ear, "what'll Oi do? Oi've been tellin' 'em that Oi'm your daughter of the house—that Oi'm your Oi've held on to all the jewelry and all the silver and—"

The officers, having finished their meal, rose from the table and came into the hall.

"General," said Kathleen, "this is me maid that has come back to be with me again."

Did you ever hear of such impudence? My ancestors have lived so long in the south that my skin is, I admit, dark enough for an octoroon, but for this fair-skinned Irish girl to introduce me as her maid—I thought I should faint. However, what she had told me about the jewels and the silver restrained me, and I fell in with her plan. The officers on seeing me were about to greet me deferentially, but on hearing Kathleen's story they passed on without a word.

Well, it dawned upon me that Kathleen was a very bright girl and had acted very bravely. She had told the officers that she had been educated abroad, in order to account for her accent. She was wearing my best clothes and I confess looked very pretty and stylish as well. I remained in the house as her maid and was greatly amused by the way she had got half a dozen men by the ears. The general was in love with her, and, since his authority was supreme, at least in this locality, everything in the house was perfectly safe.

But while a servant had a general for her slave I had only a captain. Louis Whitten, an ad-de-camp, was attracted to me from the moment he saw me. Supposing me to have negro blood in my veins, he sought me only clandestinely. I confess that the happiest moments in my life were in watching him suffer, thinking he loved one whom he must not marry. I told him to go and make love to my mistress, but it was what he wanted, and the girl between us bid fair to drive him crazy. At first I augmented his torture, but at last, becoming myself as deeply in love with him as he was with me, I was pained to see him suffer.

For months we were obliged to keep up a deception which Kathleen had commenced. We were afraid that if we confessed the protection afforded by the good will of the general would be withdrawn and the property given over to be plundered. When the Federal troops went up to fight at Pocotaligo those in our neighborhood went with them. The evening before they marched I told Kathleen that I would make my true self known to Captain Whitten. Kathleen made the confession herself. The look of relief on his face when I saw him again was replaced by one of anxiety to know his fate. I stoned for the torture I had inflicted upon him by giving him what he called the one great happiness of his life.

As soon as the troops were gone Kathleen and I took everything of value that could be moved to Colonel Wiggins, but it was not necessary, for the Federal troops never returned to that locality. I did not see Captain Whitten again till the war had ended, when he came to claim me.

Kathleen had the good sense to decline a proposal from the general and afterward married a sergeant in the Confederate army.

EUNICE WINSON.

A Judicious Inquiry.

A well known traveling man who visits the drug trade says he has often heard druggists inquire of customers who asked for a cough medicine, whether it was for a child or for an adult, and if wanted for a child they invariably recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The reason for this is that they know that there is no danger from it at all, that it always cures. There is not the least danger in giving it, and for coughs, colds and croup it is unsurpassed. For sale by Shoults & Co.

Advantages of Soap.

The origin of soap is a mystery, but we have many evidences of its antiquity. It is mentioned at least twice in the Bible under the name of borch at a period corresponding to several centuries before Christ. In the Louvre in Paris there is an interesting old vase of Etruscan manufacture whose age is computed at about 2,500 years. It is interesting in connection with our subject as bearing a group of children in relief who are engaged in blowing bubbles from pipes. Though we must not overlook the fact that certain vegetable juices are capable of being used in blowing bubbles, it is for many reasons more probable that soap of artificial manufacture was employed for the purpose. In the uncertain city of Pompeii, the preservation of which has been the means of revealing to us many antique customs, there is to be seen a soap manufactory, with all the kettles and other paraphernalia pertaining to the business; also a quantity of soap, evidently the product of this antique "soapery." The memorable volcanic eruption, while renovating a city from the face of the earth, preserved to us the evidences of a high civilization.

Some Seasonable Advice.

It may be a piece of superfluous advice to urge people at this season of the year to lay in a supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost sure to be needed before winter is over, and satisfactory results are obtained when taken as soon as a cold is contracted and before it has become settled in the system, which can only be done by keeping the remedy at hand. This remedy is so widely known and so altogether good that no one should hesitate about buying it in preference to any other. For sale by Shoults & Co.

How to Cure Corns and Bunions.

First, soak the corn or bunion in warm water to soften it; then pare it down as closely as possible without drawing blood and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice daily, rubbing vigorously for five minutes at each application. A corn plaster should be worn a few days to protect it from the shoe. As a general liniment for sprains, bruises, lameness and rheumatism, Pain Balm is unequalled. It is for sale by Shoults & Co.

Wordsworth.

Wordsworth considered "The Excursion" his best and next to it "The White Doe of Rylstone." Wordsworth said that when he first thought seriously of being a poet he looked into himself to see how he was fitted for the work and seemed to find there a "that first great gift, the vital soul," a statement which shows that, whatever other people may think of him, he had a passably fair opinion of himself. He frequently expressed his opinion of his own poetry and once said that he had widened the domain of the poet over a whole field deemed irreclaimable.

To accommodate those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquid into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Cream Balm in liquid form, which is known as Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price including the spraying tube is 75 cents. Druggists or by mail. The liquid form embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation.

Look for a little envelope in the 100 pound sacks of Coulson's Special Dry Chick Feed.

You will not be disappointed if you buy COULSON'S SPECIAL DRY CHICK FEED, for the feed is without a doubt as good a chick feed as ever was made, and with it you will be able to raise the largest percentage of the chicks, and perhaps a number of prize-winning birds. Ask your dealer.

Moses as a Sanitarian.
Moses himself was a sanitarian of no mean accomplishments, and many of the principles established by him in sanitary science might well be exploited in modern times. The type of camp which he established for the detention of unfortunate lepers, well modified to suit modern principles, would serve for the check and practical elimination of consumption.—Scientific American.

The Real Puzzle.

"I claim," remarked the man who comments on things, "that there is always room at the top for the man who works."
"Quite true," replied Senator Badger, "but one of the things that have always puzzled me is how so many get to the top without working."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Very Precise.

"Last Friday week was your birthday, wasn't it?" asked Miss Wabash.
"Nonsense," retorted Miss Boston.
"Why, what's the matter?"
"It was the anniversary of my birth. I'm not an infant."—Philadelphia Press.

Saved His Life

J. W. Davenport, Wingo, Ky., writes June 14, 1902: "I want to tell you I believe Ballard's Snow Liniment saved my life. I was under the treatment of two doctors, and they told me one of my lungs was entirely gone, and the other nearly so. I also had a lump on my side. I don't think I could have lived over two months longer. I was induced by a friend to try Ballard's Snow Liniment. The first application gave me great relief; two fifty cent bottles cured me sound and well. It is a wonderful medicine and I recommend it to suffering humanity. Sold by L. S. Simmons.

Students Must Have Their Ideals.

Whatever the student's bent, whatever his ultimate intention in the way of practice may be, the same simple rules will hold good. He must be content in his desire to learn, and he must never be contented with partially understanding. He must be methodical, working according to a plan and ready to sacrifice his personal pleasures and comforts to carry out that plan. And he must keep before him a high ideal of his professional duties, ever remembering that his mission is to prevent disease and heal the sick. He has joined an altruistic profession, one where the rewards are often incommensurate altogether with the labor, but one where his power of doing good is thoroughly and intelligently exerted will be greater than it would be in any other walk of life.—London Lancet.

Cures Chills and Fever

G. W. Wirt, Nacogdoches, Texas, says: "His daughter has chills and fever for three years; he could not find anything but would help her till he used Hering's. His wife will not keep house without it, and cannot say too much for it."—Sold by L. S. Simmons.

The Best Doctor

Rev. B. C. Horton, Sulphur Springs, Tex., writes July 10, 1902: "I have used in my family Ballard's Snow Liniment and Hering's Cough Syrup, and they have proved certainly satisfactory. The liniment is the best we have ever used for headache and pains. The cough syrup has been our doctor for the last eight years."—Sold by L. S. Simmons.

Feels All the Doctors.

"There is a little and heavily looking old chap walking about town," remarked a New York physician lately, "who for years has had a collection of diseases which make him most interesting to the profession. The ailments of which he shows undeniable symptoms are rarely seen in combination, and the state of his inner workings is a matter for speculation among the doctors who have examined him."

"The old fellow himself loves to tell that when he first asked medical advice some twenty years ago the physician, a famous practitioner in those days, wrote across the diagnosis he had put down on paper: 'This man cannot live thirty days. I should like to be present at the autopsy.' That great doctor has been dead these many years, and the dying patient still smiles cheerfully and seeks a cure for his malady. Queer, isn't it?"—New York Press.

Cures Winter Cough

J. E. Gover, 101 N. Main St., Ottawa, Kan., writes: "Every fall it has been my wife's trouble to catch a cold, and here to fore to cough all winter long. Last fall I got her a bottle of Hering's Cough Syrup. She used it and has been able to sleep soundly all night long. Whenever the cough troubles her, two or three doses stop the cough, and she is able to be up and well."—25c. 50c and $1.00. Sold by L. S. Simmons.

Could Not Be Better.

The uniform success of Chamberlain's Cough, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy has won for it a wide reputation and many people throughout the country will agree with Mr. Chas. W. Mattison, of Milford, Vt., who says: "It works like magic, and is the best preparation I know of. It couldn't be any better." He had a serious attack of dysentery and was advised to try a bottle of this remedy, which he did, with the result that immediate relief was obtained. For sale by Shoults & Co.

Unusual Appreciation

ANOTHER jewel has been added to the crown of the metropolis of the Pacific Coast by one of her leading business men, Harper A. Smith. Mr. Smith is the head of the greatest enterprise of its kind in the West and recently came forward with the announcement that in appreciation of the patronage that had made his success possible he would hereafter share his profits with all who cared to become his partners.

Mr. Smith has in 25 years built up the largest mail order store this side of the Rockies. In addition to an enormous transient trade, the great six-story store at 25 Market Street, San Francisco, last year supplied on mail orders more than twelve thousand families as regular customers. Knowing that through co-operation greater things were possible, Mr. Smith formed a stock company known as "Smith's Cash Store Inc." and now offers all those who desire it a share in the business for $50.00. That amount buys five shares of stock of a par value of $10 each, guaranteed to bear interest at a minimum rate of six per cent per annum. The holder of stock may purchase all of his household supplies from the great cash store at a discount of five percent on the already remarkable Smith prices AS AN ADDED LEAD.

It is not to be supposed that interested persons are limited to a $50.00 investment. Those who desire to do so may invest more and be assured that the income will be unusually large on the stock purchased. Mr. Smith as president and general manager of the great corporation has seen to it that the concern is purely mutual. Six per cent a year is simply the minimum interest rate which the stock will pay as has already been intimated. The articles of incorporation provide for an equitable division of the net profits among the stockholders. To date the profits of the business and the trade discounts have made possible payments that at times were at the rate of thirty per cent a year on investment. Mr. Smith will see and talk with any who may be prepared to make a small investment from which quick returns are desired. The Cash Store is one of lower Market street's conspicuous buildings, and those visiting San Francisco will have no difficulty in locating it.
